GENERAL NEWS.

Marriage of Whitelaw Reid and Daughter of D. O. Mills.

A FIVE-MILLION-DOLLAR WEDDING PRESENT.

Outrages by Striking Car Men at St. Louis—Death of Rev. A. H. Vinton, etc., etc.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

NEW YORK, April 26.—The marriage of Whitelaw Reid to the daughter of D. O. Mills took place to-night at 8:30, at the residence of the bride's father on Fifth avenue. The ceremony was followed by a reception at which a large number of distinguished guests were present. The presents were numerous and costly, the bride receiving five millions as a dowry. The newly married couple sail in the latter part of the week for Europe.

The bride was given away by her father. She wore white satin trimmed with lace, a lace veil and diamond ornaments. The bridesmaids were Miss Thompson and Miss Reid. They were dressed in white silk. There was no best man. The ushers were Ogden Mills, brother of bride, Clarence King, Augustus C. Gurnee and Chas. S. Hurd. The parlors were profusely decorated with flowers and there was music and supper by Delmonico. About 250 persons were present, among whom were: Secretary Blaine, Gov. Cornell, ex-Secretary McCulloch and Miss McCulloch, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Howells, Congressman Levi P. Morton, and Aaron G. McCook; Chas. Dudley Warner, Cornelius C. Vanderbilt, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Vanderbilt, Mr. and Mrs. Abraham S. Hewitt, Jos. W. Harper, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Stuart, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Eno, Royal Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hoe, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. David Dows, Gen. and Mrs. B. H. Bristow, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. M. Barlow, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Chittenden, Mr. and Mrs. Wickham, Mr. and Mrs. Norris K. Jessup, Commodore and Mrs. Baldwin, Gen. and Mrs. Dicesnol, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Jaffray, Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Pellew, Gen. and Mrs. E. A. Gilmore, Laidlaw and corporation counsel, Whitney. Later in the evening the newly married couple started for Ohio to visit Reid's invalid mother. Early in May they will return to New York and sail for Europe.

The wedding was intended to be strictly private and invitations were confined exclusively to personal friends of the high contracting parties. The guests were in full dress and the parlors presented an animated appearance when the party was at its height. The rooms and hall of the residence were decorated with a profusion of rare exotics intermingled with smilax. The bridal presents were not exhibited. Mr. and Mrs. Reid held a short reception after the ceremony was performed.

Whitelaw Reid's Practical Charity.

NEW YORK, April 26.—A party of homeless persons were sent to the west to-day by Whitelaw Reid. It consisted of thirty-six boys, six girls and four families, making in all sixty-five people. This is the eleventh party that has been sent under Mr. Reid's directions.

Dog Show at New York.

NEW YORK, April 26.—The fifth annual bench show under the auspices of the Westminster kennel club is progressing here; 1123 entries.

Fire.

The Smith box factory, Oakland avenue and Cox street, Green Point, was damaged by fire this afternoon. It is reported that several employes were burned or injured.

No Hebrews Need Apply.

Several watering place hotels are preparing to follow the example of Corbin, of Manhattan beach, in exclusion of Hebrews, a dozen advertisements of first class houses appearing in to-day's papers notifying Hebrews not to apply.

Elevated Railway Statement.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The Manhattan Elevated R. R. Co. to-day submitted to the mayor, comptroller and corporation counsel, statements of its financial condition for the purpose of securing their cooperation in measures for relief from taxes. The statement sets forth: Gross earnings, $5,[illegible]; operating expenses, $3,[illegible]; interest on bonds, $1,374,000; taxes, $640,000; total, $5,[illegible]; deficit, $104,[illegible]. The company therefore prays to be relieved from paying any part of arrears of taxes, as otherwise the company will be bankrupt.

A Prize Poem.

The prize for the best poem on Calderon, offered by the Spanish government, has been adjudged to Edward ... rees, of Zurich.

New York Notes.

The police commissioners are reported indicted by the grand jury because of their failure to clean the streets.

A number of leading republicans, including Vice President Arthur and Senator Platt, had a conference to-day on local matters and the situation at Washington.

Blaine was entertained by the Union League club to-night.

Steamer Lost.

Mallory & Co's. steamship City of Austria is going to pieces on Pelican shoals, Fla. No lives lost.

Dead.

Ex-Sheriff Cannon is dead.

Diseases at New York.

NEW YORK, April 26.—One hundred and twenty-seven smallpox patients and 10[illegible] typhus fever patients, are on Blackwell's island. During the week 34 new cases of smallpox and 3[illegible] of typhus fever, have been reported.

Death of a Distinguished Minister.

PHILADELPHIA, April 26.—Rev. Alexander Hamilton Vinton, formerly rector of St. Mark's church, New York, and late professor in the Protestant Episcopal divinity school of Cambridge, died here this morning of pneumonia. He came to this city to participate in the conference of consecrating the church of the Holy Trinity on Thursday and delivered the sermon. He caught cold Friday which brought on pneumonia.

Another Scheme of Gould's.

CHICAGO, April 25.—It is positively asserted here that for some weeks, in pursuance of his policy of dropping latitude roads and giving north and south lines an energetic boom, Gould has been negotiating with foreign shareholders and bondholders of the Illinois Central and the Chicago and St. Louis and New Orleans roads, representing 1800 miles, to secure control of the rail and river systems from Chicago and St. Louis to New Orleans.

Outrageous Murder.

ST. LOUIS, April 26.—Yesterday afternoon Michael Revier, a farmer, Valentine Walker a half breed Indian, James Williams, a school teacher, and an old gentleman of over 60 years, were in the saloon of Jacob Blum, at Bridgton, 20 miles from this city. Walker and Revier got into a dispute and Mr. Williams interposed in behalf of Revier, whereupon the Indian savagely dragged him out of the saloon, flung him on the ground, pounded his head with a large rock and crushed the skull in a frightful manner, killing him almost instantly. Revier, who was somewhat dazed at the suddenness and ferocity of Walker's attack, recovered himself and attempted to stop the bloody work of the savage, when the latter turned upon and felled him to the ground with a fence rail, inflicting a wound upon his head which will probably result fatally. Walker immediately fled and is supposed to be concealed in this city.

Outrages by Strikers at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, April 25.—The president of two lines of street cars having made a proposal of compromise with striking conductors and drivers, being at the rate of 12½ cents for drivers and 15 cents for conductors per hour, three or four of the strikers accepted and the cars were started down Olive and Market sts., manned mostly by extra men. Only a few cars had gone when a great crowd on Chestnut and Twelfth sts. stopped four cars, derailed them, compelled them to go over the rough pavement and forced the drivers to stable them. They spattered with mud another car, smashed its windows, sent the team back to the stable and refused to let railroad men touch it. A dozen policemen, who were present, were powerless, although they arrested a number of the leading spirits of the mob. A similar scene occurred on Market, between Fourth and Fifth. Arrests were also unavailing to restore order. Men on the cars were assailed with vile and abusive language by a mob, which denounced the railroad company and the working employes. Capt. Fox, with a squad of mounted police, kept the track clear enough for the cars to pass, but could not prevent vile language and active mud-slinging. His horse got a knife thrust, and he drew a pistol, but did not use it on the ruffian. Order prevailed at 3 P. M., the streets being pretty well cleared.

Strike.

DETROIT, April 25.—The cabinet makers in the Pullman works have struck.

Strikes at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, April 26.—Newsboys on the Leader have struck; also night soil men. The street railway strikers intend to put on some vehicles to-morrow in opposition to the street cars.

A Strike Ended.

FALL RIVER, April 25.—The Chase mill started this morning. All the old spinners returned to work except the ringleaders.

Memorial Celebration in the Cincinnati Schools.

CINCINNATI, April 26.—In the English departments of every public school in this city, the pupils to-day celebrate the birthday of Alice Carey. In the German departments the pupils celebrate the birthday of Ludwig Uhland.

Fire.

PROVIDENCE, April 25.—A half an hour fire in the Oriental mills, owned by the heirs of Alfred A. Reed and running on print cloth, caused a damage of $75,000; insured.

Burned to Death.

LITTLE ROCK, April 22.—Isaac N. Dement, while emigrating from West Virginia to Louisiana with his wife and four children, in two wagons, encamped in the mountain in Stone county, while himself and two boys were fishing. A forest fire surrounded the camp, destroying one wagon and all the household effects, and burning the wife and two children to death. Dement was badly burned trying to rescue his family.

Murder by Drowning.

CARUTHERSVILLE, MO., April 25.—Last evening a man was seen passing down the river in a skiff which contained a young woman. When near the head of Island No. 16, he threw her overboard and drowned her. Some few persons on the bank of the river heard the woman begging to be put ashore, and witnessed her terrible death. They started in pursuit of the wretch, who, however, escaped in the darkness. The pair had remained over night in Caruthersville, which is 140 miles up the river.

Indian Troubles in the Northwest.

BISMARCK, Dakota, April 25.—H. Blye has arrived here, having floated in a yawl 260 miles down the Little Missouri river. He reports two men killed by Indians at Terry Point Thursday. Hunters were all driven from the vicinity of Buford, and cavalry have been sent out in pursuit of hostiles. Monday a party of Yankton Indians crossed the river with seven horses stolen from ranchmen. Fifty hostiles have driven all the men from Blye's lower the camp on the headwaters of the Little Missouri, and troops are being sent for their protection.

The New York Board of Trade Condemns the Pool Managers.

CHICAGO, April 26.—The following was adopted at a meeting of the board of trade directors to-day: The board of directors of the Chicago Board of Trade having heretofore withheld an expression of opinion upon the merits or demerits of the organized system of pooling railway earnings between this city and the east, and has also refrained from criticism upon what is known as the joint executive committee as managers of said railroad pool, but it now declares that the action of said joint executive committee on the 15th inst. in advancing railway rates to the east five cents per one hundred pounds, to take effect April 18th, without giving the usual ten days notice, was in violation of an understanding between said executive committee and the public, and a positive breach of faith toward the shipping trades. This board regards with alarm such violation of the policy which had previously been announced to the public by the authority of said committee as an arbitrary abuse of power and as calculated to visit undeserved and unavoidable hardship and loss upon the great trade of the west whenever the whim of this secret conclave shall choose to exert it. The action of said committee of the 16th was such an act of treachery and tyranny as invited violence in Europe and should invite in this country the united and untiring effort of every citizen toward such commercial, political and legal relief as will ultimately deliver the shipping industries from the west of such unworthy power as now disregards its agreements and resorts to evasion in labored explanations of its representations in extenuation of its late unwarrantable action. This protest by the authorities of the board of trade is considered in commercial circles here as important and significant.

Odd Fellows' Anniversary.

BOSTON, April 26.—Dispatches from many points of New England report imposing celebrations of the sixty-second anniversary of the introduction of Odd Fellowship into America.

The Howe Case.

BOSTON, April 25.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Howe, of the so called ladies' deposit, returned a verdict of guilty. The case will go up on an exception.

Interesting Reminiscence.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 25.—Mrs. Nancy T. Letcher, relict of the late Judge James H. Letcher, of Henderson, Ky., died at the family residence there at midnight. Mrs. Letcher was formerly Miss Nancie T. Kennedy, daughter of Gen. Thomas Kennedy of revolutionary fame, and was born in Girard county, Ky., in 1814. Gen. Kennedy was the owner of Lewis George Clark, the original George Harris in "Uncle Tom's Cabin." It was from Kennedy's plantation, known as Poplar Hill, and while Mrs. Letcher still resided there, that Clark effected his escape, which afterward played so prominent a part in Mrs. Stowe's book.

Death of a Congressman.

CHARLESTON, April 26.—Congressman O'Connor is dead.

The Nihilists' Literary Bureau.

NEW YORK, April 25.—The nihilists and communists may be madmen, as many suppose they are, but it must be admitted that there is wonderful method in their madness. It was only Friday last that copies of a nihilist manifesto sent to the czar, demanding a national assembly, the right of public meeting, liberty of the press and other reforms, reached this city by the English mails; yet this morning translations of the document in German, French and Italian were to be found on the little round tables at which these polyglottic philosophers and patriots sat to quaff their beer and Rhine wine. Where these translations were made or by whom are secrets which they choose to keep to themselves. It is certain that with such evidence of intellectual aptitude before us as these people must have a literary bureau somewhere, capable of excellent work in its way.

A Woman's Weakness.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Cablegrams say that ever since the assassination of the czar, the empress has been suffering from severe hysteric attacks, and was threatened with death of the most horrible description should Sophie Perofski and Hessey Helmann, the two women implicated in the assassination, be executed. She made the most strenuous efforts to obtain their pardon, and received a promise to that effect. She did not discover the deceptive character of this promise until after the execution of Perofski, and the discovery threw her into violent paroxysms.

PRESS COMMENTS.

The Times Talks Severely about the New Administration.

NEW YORK, April 26.—The Times has a scathing editorial on reactionary influences at work in the last administration and under Garfield. During Hayes term, the treasury department was largely managed to all intents and purposes, ..., to further the political ambition of the secretary. The postoffice department, where the evil effects of political influence interference ... and ... inflicting traffic in votes and expenditures ..., has full sway, has developed the amazing and discreditable star route scandals which are now being exposed.

The chief executive at whose hands the constitution places the great body of appointments, and who could at any moment have dismissed selected officers who refused or neglected to carry out his views, in effect abdicated his office for the benefit of men who, whether selfishly and in violation of public interest or not, shaped appointments with little reference to principles that had been distinctly announced by their superior. There was sound administration in one department only because the head of that department was loyal to the president himself. Garfield entering on his work with a professedly less elevated standard, bids fair to fall even further below that standard than Hayes did below his. The one department which under Hayes was distinguished for its thorough application of the principles of sound administration, has been turned over to the politicians. The new secretary of the interior seems to have reestablished the most vicious, wasteful and demoralizing methods of the old system. He has abandoned competitive examinations, and the examination which he has ostensibly substituted for them are in fact farcical. New and incompetent men are put over the heads of men of tried and proved capacity, often on higher salaries. The mainspring of discipline and efficiency, the certainty that merit and merit only would secure advancement, is broken. The best men among subordinates are naturally disgusted and discouraged.

The Herald on the Postal Steal.

NEW YORK, April 26.—The Herald on the star route disclosures says: We have only one side of this melancholy and depressing story and reserve our criticism until we hear from Mr. Dorsey, of whom we wish to have as good an opinion as the gentlemen who dined with him the other day. We should like also to hear from republicans like Congressman Page, of California, and S. B. Elkins, of New Mexico; but all censure upon the sanctimonious and hypocritical administration of Hayes who permitted such a ring.

Brady, Dorsey & Co.

The star route scandal still exercises New York papers. The Times' Washington correspondent devotes his attention to more eastern offenders this morning. The World's reporter says: "It is now said that prosecution can be brought only upon suspicion and that enough circumstantial proof could not be adduced to secure conviction in a criminal suit, although a mere recital of facts would be morally convincing to any one who chooses to read it. The only other method of bringing those who are involved to punishment that seems to have occurred to the postoffice department is a thorough investigation, but a recent decision of the supreme court in the Kilbourn case would sustain Brady, Dorsey & Co. in defying a congressional committee.

JOHN McCULLOUGH.

Complete Success of the Great Pacific Coast Tragedian in London.

LONDON, April 26.—John McCullough, the famous American tragedian, made his first appearance before a London audience last night upon the classic stage of Drury Lane theater. The play was Virginius, the performance of which has not been witnessed for many days in the British metropolis, although every pungent phrase in the piece is as familiar as a household word in the United States. The audience in Drury Lane theater last night was in every respect a remarkable one. J. W. Mackay, the American millionaire, W. J. Florence, Lawrence Jerome and Count Tallner were there. From Paris, the duke of Beaufort and Lord Dudley. Lowell, the American minister, and Lady Mandeville occupied boxes, and all the leading critics—Edmund Yates, Mayhew Thomas, Frederick Wedmore, James Mortimer, Clement Scott and other celebrated writers for the morning newspapers—were present in stalls. The play was mounted splendidly, the Roman scenes being reproduced according to the well known traditions of the Drury Lane theater. Throughout the performance there were evidences of thorough stage management but the supporting cast was much inferior to that with which McCullough lately appeared in New York.

The leading parts however, were in sufficiently competent hands. McCullough's noble impersonation of Knowles' tragedy, which is so well known in America, from San Francisco to Boston, was received with many manifestations of delight. The tragedian was called before the curtain after every act, and after the fourth act he was summoned to the footlights three times. The dungeon scene was pronounced by critics to be superb in its conception and execution. Altogether the performance was successful in every particular, a fact which cannot fail to be gratifying to all Americans who are interested in the drama.

It is probable from present appearances that McCullough will have a successful season, whatever may be said by his critics. With his clear and eloquent enunciation and splendid stage presence, he has a marvellous command of passion and a grand and touching movement which will assuredly receive ample recognition before he leaves.

LONDON, April 27.—The Times says McCullough's "Virginius" was on the whole powerful if not always pleasing. His appearance was manly and impressive. His voice when he did not strain it, so far was clear and full. His gestures were often singularly natural and striking. McCullough failed in more impassioned passages, but regarding the whole performance generally it left a sense of power and intelligence. It was here and there a little too violent, but on the whole it was weighty and striking.

The new czar leads a very simple life. He gets early and takes a long walk, then breakfasts with his family, after which he goes down cellar and covers himself up in the coal-bin for the balance of the day to keep out of the way of the nihilists.

Where there is a weakness of the throat or lungs, a Cold neglected may be all that is required to establish a lingering and generally fatal disease. Even where there is no special tendency to Bronchial or Pulmonary trouble, a severe cold, left to take care of itself, often plants the seeds of a serious complaint, sure to be developed by subsequent indiscretions. Take especial care of your health, therefore, from the very earliest symptoms of a Cough or Cold, by prudently resorting to Dr. Jayne's Expectorant, which will soothe and strengthen the bronchial tubes, allay inflammation, and cleanse them and the lungs of all irritating substances. An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure.

WASHINGTON CITY.

A Republican Caucus called to Meet To-day.

Conkling Prepared to make his Fight—Senator John F. Miller's "Peculiar Position"—Bob Lincoln Weeding out the "Soft Takes"—Etc., Etc.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Speaking of the deadlock, the Tribune's correspondent says: A new plan to bring the democrats to terms has been broached. In the course of a conversation with your correspondent to-day, a senator who is in favor of the new plan described it as follows: It would be perfectly in order for Garfield to send a message to the senate saying that business, as that body has not completed organization so that it can proceed with constitutional executive business, he has concluded to withdraw all nominations now pending. This would leave the senate with no business before it except the resolution to elect officers, and the democrats would be compelled either to allow a vote to be taken upon that or take the parliamentary motion to adjourn sine die. After the senate had adjourned the president could go on and make appointments under the authority of constitutional laws.

Senator Miller's Position.

Senator Miller, of California, elected as an independent republican, and who is pledged to use his influence to secure ratification of the Chinese treaties and consequent adjustment of the vexed Chinese question, has been placed in a peculiar position in the contest of endurance now pending in the senate. Miller took part in the republican caucus and has loyally abided by its decision, but as time passes and nothing is accomplished he is reported as having become very restive, particularly in view of the fact that by the terms of the treaties they will fall unless ratified by the United States within 12 months from the time it was agreed to in China. The twelve months limit is rapidly approaching, and Californians say that Miller would find it difficult to explain its failure on the Pacific coast by any reference to the election of senatorial officers or to breaking up the solid south, if he had not done what he could do to at least secure a hearing. Miller is understood to have explained his position to his republican associates during last week, and it is from him doubtless that the call for the caucus proceeded. Miller's interest in executive session is not so much that nominations shall be confirmed as it is that the senate shall make some disposition of the Chinese treaty.

Chandler's Chances—The Deadlock.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Nearly all the democratic senators so far as can be definitely ascertained are unfavorable to Wm. Chandler's confirmation as solicitor general, and as Senator Conkling is also understood to fight him because of his intimate relations with Secretary Blaine, his chances are unpromising. Conkling and his immediate following are strongly opposed to holding any executive sessions of practical and will undoubtedly insist, in the caucus that the existing deadlock be indefinitely continued, nominally on the ground that to break it would be a surrender of the republican contest for control of senate officers but really it is surmised because they desire additional time in which to enlist recruits and work up their plan of battle against the confirmation of Robertson as collector of the port of New York. The needs of the public service, however, and the personal influences herefore described in these dispatches as working to bring about the speedy transaction of some portion of the accumulated executive business, will undoubtedly prevail at an early day despite all opposition.

Matthews' Case.

At a meeting of the senate judiciary committee this morning, several members spoke in favor of the confirmation of Matthews but no action was taken. At the next meeting the committee will probably vote against him, but his friends claim that he can be confirmed over an adverse report, as this is believed to be the fact as nearly all the democrats will vote for him.

The Proposed Caucus.

Conkling and the stalwarts oppose a caucus, but fourteen senators have signed a call and it will be held in a few days. The president urges action on pending nominations and his friends are for that policy. A republican senator told a western press reporter to-day that the caucus ... not be ... postponed much longer.

Chairman ... of the ... requested ... to call a meeting of the republican ... for to-morrow or Thursday. The object of ... of the call is to ... procure the holding of some executive sessions ... with a view to ... [illegible]

A Caucus Called—Conkling's Attitude.

[illegible]

... pledged to vote with Conkling.

Conkling and his Man.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Both Senator ... and Senator Platt are very much amused at a published statement that there were ... between them. There is no truth in the story and their relations are as cordial now as they have ever been.

A Foolish Speech.

Senator Jonas, of Florida, placed his democratic friends in an uneasy position to-day by making a long speech in the senate in which he undertook to defend and justify human slavery in this country. His speech was an unwise one and during its delivery some northern democratic senators moved restlessly in their seats, and showed plainly that they disapproved his sentiments or utterances of such sentiments at this time.

Two Seats in the House Vacant.

The death of Representative O'Connor, of South Carolina, leaves two seats on the democratic side of the house vacant.

Official Nominations.

The president has nominated Roswell Wheeler, of Indiana, agent for the Indians at Pima and Maricopa, Arizona.

Correct, Mr. Lincoln.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Secretary Lincoln, it is understood, has declared his intention to relieve and send to their regiments such officers of the army as have enjoyed soft billets of detached duty in and about Washington for several years. The most prominent case, and one which is without parallel, is that of Thomas H. Bradley, brevet captain and 1st lieutenant of the 21st infantry who has been on detached service in the office of the secretary of war for nearly 16 years and has never done a day's duty with his regiment since he was appointed a second lieutenant in 1866.

Work of the Mints—Where goes the Money?

Burchard, director of the mints, has returned from the south, where he has been several weeks, spending most of the time at New Orleans and St. Louis. He reports the mint in good shape at New Orleans, and coining money at the rate of $[illegible] silver dollars per month. This is assisted as their share of the $2,000,000 bullion according to their facilities. The Philadelphia mint is exclusively at work on gold at the rate of $3,000,000 per month. There is some querry as to where this money goes to. Every month new $1,000,000 of $5 and $10 pieces are being coined, and there is more than enough to keep the mint going a year as it has been kept up for some months. This coin is paid out to bullion owners who bring their gold for coinage and then disappear. Very little finds its way to the banks and the increase in treasury stock is not raised. Burchard inclines to the opinion that it is absorbed by the working classes, who hoard small sums of hard cash rather than place it in savings banks, as they would only secure possession of perishable paper. Five or ten-dollar gold piece put away once a month by a large population of artisans and laborers, would readily account for its disappearance, provided that this is the true theory. There is nothing to show, however, whether this is a mere conjecture or a fact. It is evident that the coin can't be leaving the country, so long as the balance of trade is in favor of the United States and bullion flowing this way from abroad.

A Matter of Favoritism.

At the request of President Garfield, Attorney General McVeagh has given an opinion upon the application of Paymaster Thomas T. Caswell for such correction of the navy register as will place him above Paymaster John H. Stevenson. The attorney general says that so far as the application rested on the proposition that the name of Edward Bellows should have entered into computation, Paymaster Stevenson was advanced 15 numbers. It cannot be now successfully urged that E. A. Frailey was prior to 1879 appointed successor to Bellows by and with the advice and consent of the senate, as Bellows has not since been appointed paymaster. The recent decision of the supreme court in the case of Blake vs the United States is decisive, that he is not in the service. The attorney general says: As to the promotion of Stevenson, advancement being an accomplished fact and within the terms of section 1506, in my opinion it is not in your (the president's) power to inquire what was the act of heroism, or where and when it was committed which induced your predecessor and the senate in 1879 to advance Paymaster Stevenson 15 numbers. I am of opinion that their action in that matter is conclusive upon the executive department, and that therefore it is not subject to your examination or revision. Under this decision Paymaster Stevenson will be entitled to the disputed advancement and to the grade of pay inspector.

The Bankruptcy Law Question in Committee.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The senate judiciary committee to-day referred most of the pending judicial nominations to subcommittees. The subjudiciary committee on banking, Ingalls, McMillan and Garland, will soon address letters to gentlemen familiar with the subject with a view of ascertaining whether it is the opinion of the business interests of the country that another national bankruptcy law should be enacted, secondly, to write practical suggestions as to the best method of remedying acknowledged defects in former laws relative to delay in distribution of estates, consumption of assets in extravagant fees and costs, etc. The subcommittee is expected to report some measure to the full committee early in December.

Indian Commissioners Appointed.

President Garfield has appointed John B. Hawes of Hudson, Michigan and Wm. McMichael of Philadelphia, members of the board of Indian commissioners.

Of Course.

A number of senators and representatives whose names have recently been published as backers of some of the contractors who obtained largely increased pay on star route contracts assert that great injustice has been done to them by the use of any such terms implying knowledge or participation in the alleged frauds upon the government. They say that they simply joined in recommendations forwarded to them from their constituents, and in many cases earnestly endorsed by their state legislature, for increased or expedited mail service in portions of the country apparently needing such additional mail facilities, and that they were entirely ignorant of the unwarranted and extravagant allowances improperly based upon those general recommendations but which were really the result of maladministration and collusion between department officials and contractors, in which they had innocently taken no part.

A Land Scheme.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The attention of the secretary of the interior has been called to a circular issued by the Oklahoma Land Co. of St. Louis, of Milton Turner, president, and [illegible] general manager. The circular promises 160 acres of land to every freedman who will pay [illegible] the public lands of Oklahoma. Secretary Kirkwood at once referred the circular to the commissioner of the general land office, who, in his report, says that there never has been a purpose since the cession to the United States of the territory ceded by France that any lands embraced within the limits of the present Indian Territory have been open to settlement or entry by any persons whatsoever under any land law. In one of the Indian treaties ... the Seminoles, March, 1866, ... acres were ceded to the United States in compliance with a desire of the United States to locate other Indians or freedmen thereon. The freedmen referred to the comprehensive states, were ... classed ... Indian tribes. Missouri ... even by intended beneficiaries, would be unauthorized and illegal. With reference to statements contained in the circular, there are 14 million acres of public lands in this territory to which the Indian title has been extinguished and which await settlement and occupation by freedmen. The United States commissioner says that it is not true that there are public lands within the meaning of the public land laws. The term public lands is sometimes used in a general sense to designate lands, the legal title of which is in the United States, in contra distinction to lands, the private property of individual citizens, of lands belonging to the United States, but which have been appropriated to any special use or reserved for any purpose, by act of congress or executive proclamation or withdrawn for disposal by lawful authority, are not public lands in the legal and proper sense. These words as employed to designate lands subject to disposal to the public and open to occupation by the public. The report concludes as follows: "For many years efforts have been made by designing persons to effect ingress into the Indian Territory for the purpose of despoiling the Indians of the patrimony secured them by the most solemn obligations of the United States. These unlawful and dangerous efforts heretofore have been thwarted by prompt action of the executive under his constitutional duty to enforce laws. The present attempt to make use of the colored people of the country in the same direction by deluding them with fictitious assurances that new and congenial homes can be provided for them within this territory, deserves especial reprobation, since its only effect must be to involve innocent people in a criminal conspiracy and subject them to disappointment, hardships and suffering."

Secretary Kirkwood to-day telegraphed to J. Milton Turner, St. Louis, president of the Freedmen's Oklahoma association, that the question of right of colored people to settle upon lands of the Indian territory would be submitted to the highest authority, and if Turner desires to be heard he should come to Washington at once. Meantime no attempt must be made to enter the territory.

The Matter of Garnishee.

The commissioner of internal revenue decides that money in the custody of the government and belonging to citizens is not subject to levy, attachment under proceedings instituted in state courts by creditors.

Postal Service Reorganization.

Henry D. Lyman, of Ohio, has been appointed chief clerk of the contract office of the postoffice department in place of J. L. French removed. Lyman, for a number of years was chief clerk of the bureau having charge of mail transportation but resigned early the present month to engage in business in Boston. Lyman will for the present ... second assistant postmaster general. The removal of French is said to be only an administrative step ... to ... the establishment of the contract office on a thorough working basis.

An Important Mining Decision.

EUREKA, April 25.—A private dispatch from Washington received here to-day states that the supreme court of the United States has affirmed the decision of Judge Field in the celebrated case of the Eureka Consolidated vs. Richmond Mining Co. This gives the Eureka Consolidated a claim for damages against Richmond of about $[illegible]. It also settles the big ledge theory as applied to mines of Ruby Hill for all times. On receipt of the news Eureka Consolidated turned loose their whistles at the mine and furnaces and there was general feeling of joy among friends of that company.

WESTERN WASHINGTON.

A Foul Attempt at Murder at Port Blakely—Capt. Frank Smith Dangerously Wounded.

SEATTLE, April 26.—Yesterday, Capt. Frank Smith of the tug Blakely narrowly escaped instant death at the hands of the cook of the schooner D. S. Williams now lying at Port Blakely. It appears that Smith and the cook, name unknown, had a misunderstanding Sunday evening over a game of pool at the Pelican, about which some angry words followed. Matters, however, were settled apparently to the satisfaction of both. Yesterday, Smith stepped ashore from the tug at Blakely and had been on the wharf but a few moments when the cook stepped up behind him, and without a moment's warning shot him with a revolver, the ball going into the left side of his neck, in front of the jugular vein and passing out near the left eye. Smith fell to the wharf and Capt. Libby, who happened to be near, hearing the shot, approached and knocked the cook down and held him secure until taken into custody. Smith's wound is considered very dangerous and may prove fatal. The muzzle of the revolver was so near Smith's head when discharged that the side of his face was badly burned. Capt. Smith has been in the employ of the Blakely Co. several years, is sober and steady and a very competent steamboat man.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Bad Report from Takou Mines.

VICTORIA, April 26.—The Colonist correspondent at Takou writes disparagingly from the new mines. He says that excitement about the mines is gradually subsiding, as none of the old miners have much confidence in it. About 70 or 80 men are reported to be on the spot, but as the ice has not yet let go its hold of the ground, very little has been done. The quartz bearing vein is said to be very rich and as it is not expected that surface diggings will be found, there is little or no inducement for single men without capital to visit that far off place. Several traders and miners have taken up claims at Takou intending to resume their business there. The present aspect of things, however, is not sufficiently encouraging for them to do so for a time, therefore they will remain at Wrangle or return to their old locations at Cassiar.

British Naval Affairs.

The commander-in-chief of the Pacific station, Rear Admiral Stirling, will shortly meet Captain Arthur, naval attache to the Washington embassy, at San Francisco, to confer with that officer as to the strengthening of Vancouver island, in view of possible hostilities with foreign nations, who could utilize the harbor of San Francisco as a base of operations against British interests on the Pacific. Capt. Arthur was formerly captain of the torpedo ship Vernon.

The Triumph may arrive here some time in June. The admiralty notify that the detached squadron under the command of Rear Admiral, the right honorable the Earl of Clan-William, C. B. will leave the cape of Good Hope about March 31st for Singapore. It will arrive here in August.

THE RAGING RIVERS.

Flood in Mississippi River at St. Paul, Minnesota.

Parts of the City already Inundated—The Waters Slowly Receding at Omaha and Council Bluffs—Flood Reports from Illinois—Etc., Etc., Etc.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

OMAHA, April 26.—The river has fallen one foot since yesterday and has fallen 11 inches at this city. The situation remains unchanged at Omaha and Council Bluffs. All delayed mail have gone east on the [illegible] and west. A [illegible] train to this afternoon for the west with the ... sacks of mail, one being way mail and two through mail for the Pacific coast. Travel was ... Council Bluffs this afternoon with ... for east-bound passengers ... to be transferred from the Union Pacific. Travel keeps up ... will ... under the circumstances.

OMAHA, April 26.—River has fallen eight inches ... 24 hours and 2 inches since noon, not sufficient to materially change the situation of affairs ... [illegible] ... to the protection of the ... exposed from washing away as the water recedes and the high wind drives against them.

Flood at Atchison.

ATCHISON, April 26.—The river is 20 feet 7 inches above low water mark. The river bottom opposite here is submerged. Many houses in East Atchison have been flooded, but the main portion of town is in no danger. All railroads terminating here have been blocked excepting the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and the central branch of the Union Pacific. The ice houses of Plankington & Armour at Sugar lake, about five miles from the city, tumbled into the lake this P. M. and those of Woods Bros., also of Kansas City, fell in on Saturday. Old residents of Missouri opposite here say that the flood equals that of 1847. The river has risen about six inches to-day, but is now about stationary and it is believed that the worst is over.

At Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, April 26.—A levee which was built to protect the town of Harlem and the broad bottom lands opposite the city from overflow gave way Saturday night and a strong current has been pouring through at the rate of five or six miles an hour over the tracks of the Hannibal and St. Joe, the Council Bluffs, Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific and Wabash roads for nearly a mile. All these tracks are supposed to be washed out. The levee gave way at about 10 o'clock at night, the water covering a large number of farms to a depth of from four to six feet. The first intimation of danger which many had was water coming into their houses. In the town of Harlem only half a dozen houses are above the water line.

The Floods in Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, April 26.—High water in this state is still confined to the Minnesota and Red rivers. The Mississippi at St. Paul is still rising, but the water has not yet caused serious inconvenience. The depth of water in the channel is 16 feet ... inches. A dispatch from the upper river says that the water at the ordinary stage for the season is three feet lower than during the freshet last June. The ice has all gone out of Red river and high water is reported at Pembina, Creek, Star and Wahpeton. The track of the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba railroad is covered ... with shallow water, but travel is not interrupted. The Minnesota river is steadily rising and the danger is increasing. At ... [illegible] ... this travel is entirely suspended.

A dispatch from Shakopee says the river has risen [illegible] since last night and is now ... and ... half feet below high water mark. The river is ... and ... and railroad business suspended. The water is up to Front street at Mankato and people are moving ... [illegible]

Water has commenced to flow through the streets with constantly increasing current from the southeast. The back water is creeping forward and the city and spreading in vast sheets over all low lands. Shortly after noon to-day an immense number of logs, filling the river for the space of nearly half a mile long passed down. They are the property of ... John S. Prince, and came from the St. Paul ... on this side of Mendota where it is said that there were one million two hundred thousand feet. Ten cents of the ... are removing rapidly into ... and the ... on the east side. The flat also ... is covered with water and Sioux City shops and stock yards are surrounded by water. Reports from the upper river says that it is rising at Bismarck and at ... Minnesota, the rivers from which much of the flood comes is stationary or falling to-day, and little more rise is expected from that quarter. A dispatch from Moorhead, where most of the flood has been endured, says that the flood reached its full height yesterday afternoon and has now fallen a foot and is going down at the rate of an inch an hour. Up the Chippewa, five miles, the water has fallen until it is within its banks, but the Minnesota is still very high and backs it water in the Chippewa for a few miles. Railroad tracks and bridges are washed away in many cases.

At Quincy and Vicinity.

QUINCY, Ills., April 26.—The levee gave away today, flooding a very large area of rich farming land. A break occurred about ten miles south of Quincy. One of the trestle bridges on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad between Fall Creek and East Hannibal has been washed out and the road bed is considerably damaged. All trains on the Hannibal division have been abandoned.

QUINCY, Ill., April 26.—Specials from Fall Creek, Stockport and other points along the Sny levee state that the river to-day is stationary; no rise since midnight. The water is now six inches higher than during the great flood last year. The crevasse in the levee is constantly widening and all efforts to stop the break have been futile. The water is steadily spreading over the wide area formerly protected by the embankment. It is impossible to estimate the extent of the damage. A strip of highly cultivated land from three to eight miles wide and nearly 50 miles long is already under water or certain to share the general destruction. To-day the C. B. & Q. R. R. track is under water between Fall creek and Hannibal, and one of the trestle bridges has been carried away. The track just below Quincy is also badly washed by high water. The Mississippi river just below this city is now over ten miles wide, all of the bottom lands on both sides being flooded. This is a very fertile section and all sown to wheat. It will probably be sown to corn after the flood.

The Mississippi Clear of Ice.

ST. LOUIS, April 26.—The upper Mississippi river is now open throughout its entire length from St. Paul down.

A Later Report from St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, April 26.—The Mississippi river has risen two feet since morning and is spread over the flats on the west side of the river to the foot of the bluffs. Some houses on low ground are surrounded by water and in a few cases has flowed into the lower floors of dwellings. A boom 20 miles above the city went out at noon and many logs went down the river. The amount is not considerable. The river is still rising.

Flood at St. Louis.

The river has risen about six inches to-day and is making rapid encroachment at ... levee. A large part of the low lands in the extreme northern portion of the city is submerged.

Lord Beaconsfield's Remains Entombed at Hughenden.

Bradlaugh Again Before the Bar of the House of Commons—The Land Bill Under Discussion, etc., etc., etc.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

LONDON, April 26.—Large numbers of people arrived at Hughenden to attend the funeral of Lord Beaconsfield, including the Prince of Wales, Duke of Connaught, Prince Leopold, with a wreath from the queen, and wreaths of the royal family. The [illegible] of Hughenden has gone ... [illegible] ... that this being ... not attend, the country is in mourning attire. The Princess of Wales sent a wreath. Showery weather kept many at home.

The funeral service completed, all the principal mourners entered the vault and placed wreaths on the coffin, and before the vault was closed it was literally covered with flowers.

Debate on the Land Bill.

LONDON, April 26.—It is said that the bill confiscated the property of landlords without compensation for what was taken, or security for what was left, and gave only a guarantee of perpetual and universal litigation. The question of land ... was only settled by permanently removing the laws of supply and demand.

Warton (tory) moved an adjournment of debate to give the government time to answer certain pertinent questions concerning the bill.

Gorst (conservative) strongly condemned the silence of the government.

Gladstone said that the law officers decided to consult together before answer was made to questions.

Stafford Northcote remarked that as the house was about to be called upon to vote for a second reading of the bill before any explanation was given, there was nothing unreasonable in the motion for adjournment.

Forster said that the government desired to learn the opinions of other parties before replying.

Harcourt charged the opposition with obstruction.

The motion for adjournment was then withdrawn.

The speaker rose to put the question, for the bill to be read a second time, when Lewis (conservative) moved adjournment.

A. M. Sullivan (home ruler) appealed to Northcote not to waste time in party skirmishes when the Irish tenants were under notice to quit.

Forster said, that the government was perfectly willing to give the explanation demanded, but as there were three amendments on the order book, it was only respectful to defer reply until the men who proposed those amendments stated their views.

Stafford Northcote stoutly refuted the charge of obstruction.

Lewis' motion was then withdrawn.

Stuart (liberal) moved that no measure of Irish reform is complete which does not deal with the condition of farm laborers.

Forster said that the government was ready to give favorable consideration to any clause for the amelioration of the condition of laborers. The land bill had three objects: firmness of land tenure, increase in the number of peasant proprietors, and the relief of overcrowded districts. The latter would be effected by the state and in the direction of emigration or public works. The increase of peasant proprietors would be effected by advancing money to enable tenants to purchase holdings. The reform of the land trouble was composed of three principles: a fair rent, to a fair rent, security of tenure and ... The tenant to sell his interest in his farm. The bill would inflict no real hardship, and would ... for some time upon them.

The debate was then adjourned until Thursday. On motion of Lord Hartington, the house adjourned ... for ... Tuesday next, in honor of the ... Lord Beaconsfield.

Northcote's motion was adopted, 208 to ... almost ... tirely ... numbers from conservatives.

Bradlaugh again advanced to the table and the speaker asked him to withdraw. He declined on the ground that the resolution was illegal.

The speaker asked instructions.

Northcote asked Gladstone whether he intended to move to carry out the resolution.

Gladstone declined, saying that he could not take the functions out of the hands of the majority.

Northcote then said that considering Gladstone had abdicated his functions as leader he moved that Bradlaugh withdraw.

Gladstone asserted that it was not his place to move in the matter.

Labouchere said that Bradlaugh was prepared to return again and again to the house.

John Bright advised Bradlaugh to retire.

Bradlaugh declined, and the speaker directed him to withdraw and as he refused, the sergeant-at-arms removed him to the bar. The speaker asked for fresh instructions. Adjourned.

Will Try Again.

LONDON, April 27.—Bradlaugh will again to-day attempt to take the oath in the house of commons.

Catarrhal
... SCN ...

Wei De Meyer's Treatise on Catarrh, explains the following important facts:

1. That Catarrhal Colds become a poisonous infection, at first local and finally constitutional.

2. That, being Constitutional, the infection is beyond the reach of mere local remedies.

3. That impurities in the nostrils, are necessarily swallowed into the stomach and inhaled into the lungs, thus poisoning the Digestive, Respiratory and Genito-urinary organs.

4. That Catarrhal virus follows the mucous membrane and causes Deafness, Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhœa, Bronchitis, Leucorrhœa, and Consumption.

5. That Smokes, Douches, Inhalations, and Insoluble Snuffs, cannot possibly remove infectious inflammation from the organs named.

6. That an antidote for Catarrh must possess an inoculative affinity for, and the quality of being absorbed by, the purulent mucous wherever located.

Based upon these plain theories, Dr. Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure has proved to be infallible. It not only relieves, it cures Catarrh at any stage. Home testimony:

VAST MILITARY ESTABLISHMENTS.

Since all the European powers are armed against each other to the full extent of their capacity for maintaining armaments, and since there is no one of them which has not injuries to avenge upon some or all the rest—for which each and all only bide their time—the reader can not be surprised when he is informed that there is "a distrust among the powers which threatens the peace of Europe." That is just what the great military establishments mean. Just now Greece and Turkey are standing in an attitude of war. This naturally attracts the attention of the great powers whose aim it is to prevent an outbreak which might lead to wider complications. For the truth is that ever since the Berlin congress met to adjust the differences growing out of the Russo-Turkish war, the exercise of the most skillful diplomacy has been required on the part of the great powers to preserve the peace of Europe. Although, thus far, a renewal of hostilities has been avoided, yet a disruption of the existing relations, already strained to their uttermost tension, is liable to occur at any moment. The fact of there being a general distrust is shown in the vigorous efforts which are being made on the part of the continental governments to increase the efficiency of their respective military establishments, and place them upon a war footing, without violating the tacit understanding existing between them or attracting too strongly the jealous attentions of their immediate neighbors.

A war which would involve Europe would be one of the most gigantic dimensions when the resources of the respective powers are taken into consideration and the aggregate is ascertained. The population of Europe according to the latest estimate is over 576,000,000, very nearly 577,000,000. The armies of the nations composing this population, on a peace footing, number 3,387,253; on a war footing, 9,875,279, with a total available force organized and ready to take the field of 15,579,000 men. These figures are based upon official and other data, but cannot be considered as complete, the numbers given being if anything below the true enumerations. They are sufficiently accurate, however, to enable the reader to form a pretty correct idea of the military strength of Europe.

In most of the continental countries it is obligatory upon every male citizen between the ages of twenty-one and forty-five years, and capable of doing military duty, to serve for a certain period with the colors. This is most notably the case in France, Germany and Russia; hence the large number of organized or trained reserves available to those powers in times of war.

If the untrained militia, or that not included in any permanent organization, be taken into consideration, it will be perceived that the actual fighting strength can be nearly if not quite doubled by retaining the latter for depot, home and garrison duty, and relegating the organized and trained reserves, or most of them, to the field. It seems impossible, however, that any contingency calling for such an armament can arise. The enumerated war strength is amply sufficient to meet any emergency within the bounds of probability, and so vast are the numbers which the firing of a single hostile cannon can bring into collision that thoughtful minds do not wonder when humanity trembles at the bare thought of an European war.

THE WORRY OVER MAHONE.

We are told that democratic opponents of Mahone grow hotter each day in their denunciation of him. They give him to understand that all such as he are traitors to their race, and worse than traitors to the section which they speak of as an imaginary female person called "The South." Doubtless Mahone is a very bad pattern to set before the youth of America. Republicans have done themselves no credit by their dalliance with him. But Mr. Mahone is a bright consummate flower of the democratic party. Is it objected that he is a repudiator? Then he holds a great principle in common with the democratic party of most of the southern states, and is, in fact, substantially on the ground occupied by a majority of northern democrats ten or dozen years ago, when they proposed virtual repudiation of the national debt by "paying" it in irredeemable greenbacks. Is it objected that he has helped to oppress the colored voters of Virginia and deprive them of the constitutional right of suffrage? Then he has been a devoted advocate of the methods by which the solid south was made to vote for Hancock. The country has reason enough to be disgusted with Mahone. But it does not lie in the mouth of any fellow democrat of the senate to attack him for his vile political principles. Of course the real reason for democratic condemnation of Mahone is that he has refused to "obey the caucus and act with the party." If he would now come into the caucus he would be joyfully received, and all his infamy as a repudiator would be forgiven.

Republicans assert that their alliance with Mahone is solely for the purpose of breaking democratic ascendency in the southern states. That it will win, even if the scheme to organize the senate succeeds, we see no reason to believe; though democratic senators do not hesitate to express their fears that success for Mahone would encourage the formation of an independent party in every southern state and rapidly bring about disintegration of the old democratic party. And they are fighting Mahone with a bitterness that indicates their actual fear of such a consequence. But any opposition to the democratic party of the southern states, to be really successful, must make itself worthy of success; and this no party can do by following Mahone. The moral basis is wanting. As the Springfield Republican puts it, "it is not necessary that the republican party should offer to the voters of the south a lower standard of moral principles than it offers to the voters of the north. The way to divide the south is the way in which the republican party has divided the north by being nearer right on the great questions of honesty, economy and the public faith than the other party. There is no other way, no short cut by swapping offices and trading chances."

ENORMOUS SUMS.

Increase of capital in Great Britain is one of the astonishing things of even this commercial age. British capital is invested in prodigious sums all over the world. The London Bankers' Magazine gives an estimate of the total amount of money which the capitalists of that country have invested in the form of loans at home and abroad. It may be summarized thus: Loaned to the British government, $3,750,000,000; loaned to the colonies and to foreign countries, $3,750,000,000; home railways are down for $3,600,000,000, and foreign companies for $1,000,000,000; Indian government and railway stocks foot up $900,000,000. Other securities of all kinds held by British investors, including canals, docks, shipping, land, financial, iron, coal, mining, manufacturing, and industrial companies,—in short, commercial joint stock companies of all kinds,—bring up the grand total to £3,465,000,000, or $17,325,000,000, or nearly ten times the American national debt. The average interest is said to be 4½ per cent., and to aggregate $885,000,000 annually. That is about $23 per annum per individual in the British islands, and about $10 of that is paid from foreign sources. Thirty-two million pounds of this interest money is disbursed in January, £15,550,000 in February, $12,500,000 in March, $15,000,000 in April, £6,500,000 in May, and £3,500,000 in June, and practically similar payments are made during the last half of the year. The heaping up of the payments in certain seasons of the year exists here as well as there, and the tendency in both cases is to disturb the money market unnecessarily and undesirably. Excluding the Metropolitan board of works loan, the French loan, and loans partly held abroad, there was paid up on new joint stock schemes in London during January and February no less than £5,750,000, and March (to the 18th) £1,130,000. The total amount of the face of the new shares issued in January was £9,000,000; in February, £5,000,000, and in March (to the 18th), £4,250,000. So the ball seems to be gaining headway rather than losing it. These figures might have turned the head of Crœsus, and fairly have turned the heads of many Londoners. Still the accumulations increase, making Great Britain more and more every year the money centre of the world.

Critics are dealing severely with General Sherman for his account of the battle of Shiloh, given in his speech at the recent reunion of the army of the Tennessee. They are making it appear beyond all question that Grant and Sherman were not expecting a battle and were actually surprised upon the field, though they ought to have known that for three days before the attack commenced the confederates were massing in great force in their front with intention of delivering battle. Gen. H. V. Boynton publishes a long article in the Cincinnati Gazette, in which he makes these matters plain. Gen. J. B. Steedman adds his testimony, showing that in all material respects the attack of the confederates was a surprise. Another critic asks: If it could be shown that Grant and Sherman knew the rebels were marching to attack, why was the former not on the ground that morning, instead of being down the river fourteen miles, and why had not the latter made some preparation to receive the rebel assault? It is far more to the credit of the generals and the troops to face the truth and admit that they were taken by surprise and were wholly unprepared for the shock. But they got into line of battle in remarkably quick time and fought a most desperate action under adverse circumstances. The rebels, who outnumbered the national forces about 18,000 men, expected an easy victory. Having stolen up to the federal encampments unperceived at the break of day, and then with a yell made a rush upon the men, who were engaged at the moment cooking their breakfasts, they fully reckoned upon putting the whole force to flight, stampeding it and capturing the entire outfit at the river, except the few that might manage to get across to the other side. The plan nearly succeeded. It was only foiled by a resistance which was as unexpected to the confederate chiefs as it was creditable to the raw troops that made it.

A new Sunday law has just been passed by the Ohio legislature which places additional and severe restrictions upon the liquor traffic, and prohibits all manner of shows and amusements on Sunday. The first section of the bill forbids, under a penalty of fifty dollars, any person from selling or bartering any spirituous liquors on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, except upon the written prescription of a practicing physician. The second section provides that whoever, on Sunday, participates in or exhibits to the public, in any building, garden or other place in the state, any theatrical or dramatic performance of any kind or description, or equestrian or circus performance of jugglers, acrobats, rope dancing, sparring exhibitions, variety shows, negro minstrelsy, or any base ball playing, or ten pins or other games, or participates in keeping any low or disorderly house of resort, shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding six months. This act has been rendered necessary through the rapidly increasing tendency in Cincinnati and other cities of the state, to convert Sunday into a day not only of amusement and recreation but of rioting and debauchery.

Every city contains a phalanx of estimable citizens who are actuated by the lofty purpose of finding ways of living at its expense. Portland is no exception. The phalanx here is beginning to renew its activity now, in view of the approach of the municipal election. The independent citizen in these cases is the public enemy. He is apt to be numerous on election day, and he votes so waywardly that honest calculations are often upset in the most outrageous manner, spoiling the fruits of long periods of professional labor skillfully devoted to municipal statesmanship. From every active independent citizen a fatal contagion spreads. He ought to be put under quarantine and not released till after the election.

The census bureau is publishing many curious tables. One of the latest shows the distribution of the population of the United States in elevation above the sea level. It shows that nearly one-fifth of the inhabitants live below 100 feet, that is, along the immediate sea-board and in the swampy and alluvial regions of the south; more than two-fifths live below 500 feet; more than three-fourths below 1000 feet, while 97 per cent. live below 2000 feet. We have over a quarter of a million who live above 5000 feet, and 26,400 who live above 10,000 feet. Strange to say there are fewer people living between the altitudes of 7000 and 8000 feet than above that of 10,000.

The Memphis Appeal has had access to the book which Jefferson Davis is about to publish in defense of the secession of the south and his own vindication for his part in the cause of secession. Several columns of extracts are published, but no new theories in defense of the "right of secession" are advanced, or any new arguments that were not given by Judge Black and James Buchanan, why it was "unconstitutional" to prevent the southern states from seceding. But he is afraid time will obliterate the reasons for the "justice of their cause" and he proposed to hand the "truth" down to posterity. The defense is not a new one.

Mr. Watson (Gen. Walker does not give his first name) in the year 1815 published his predictions of the increase of population in the United States for a series of decades, and here we have it compared with official returns:

Year.	Predicted.	Actual.	Less or More
1820	9,625,000	9,638,000	2,000
1830	12,833,000	12,864,000	31,000
1840	17,166,000	17,068,000	38,000
1850	23,185,000	23,191,000	6,000
1860	31,753,000	31,443,000	310,000

He put down for 1880, 56,450,000; and but for the war it is almost certain that this would have been among the nearest of his guesses.

France is coining silver and gold at the ratio of 15½ to 1, and she insists that the monetary conference shall adopt this as the basis of the international system. Our coinage is at the ratio of nearly 16 (or to be exact, 15,988) to 1. We have not silver enough now in our dollar, and yet France would have us diminish the amount. It is manifest that Great Britain will not come into the arrangement at all, nor indeed into any arrangement which the conference may propose.

During the first month of his administration of the postoffice department, Postmaster General James effected a total saving in the expenses of the department of $223,019, as compared with the expenses of the previous month. Of this saving, $157,765 was made in the star route service, $55,725 in steamboat service, and $7,529 in mail messengers.

Ten dollars will be paid by the routes for evidence that will lead to arrest and conviction of any one stealing THE OREGONIAN from subscribers in Portland.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Indications for northern Pacific coast region partly cloudy or cloudy weather, with rain.

CITY.

MOLDERS' STRIKE.—Saturday morning fifteen molders employed by the Oregon stove factory (formerly Willamette stove works) struck. They quit work, and Monday morning a committee of two waited on Mr. J. Loewenberg, president of the company, and stated their grievance. Usage among molders allows one apprentice to every eight journeymen employed and one to the shop. The foundry hires four boys, when under journeymen's rules it should have only three. They therefore demanded that one apprentice be discharged or they would not resume work. Mr. Loewenberg asked whether they were satisfied with the wages paid, with the hours and with their bosses, all of which was answered in the affirmative. He then informed the committee that he would manage the company's business to suit himself, and refused their demand. His answer was communicated to the men, who went to the shop, gathered up their tools and left. The strikers, except one, are men of families. Their action leaves a number of other workmen in the shop out of employment. The company will fill the strikers' places with boys, who under good instruction soon become proficient in the work. Mr. Loewenberg offers any striker who wants to return steady employment. The men worked by the piece and earned $3 50 to $4 per day.

GOVERNMENT TUG.—The government tug which was launched from the ways below Greenwich dock last Saturday, will be ready to make her trial trip next Friday. She is a very pretty little craft, with handsome model, neatly finished and well appointed. Her dimensions are: 65 feet long, 16 feet beam and 10 foot hold. The engine, an upright one, used to drive her, is 12 inches in diameter and one foot stroke. The propeller is 4 feet in diameter, has three flukes, 6 foot pitch, and will make from 200 to 250 revolutions per minute. The boiler is a return tubular one, 40 inches in diameter and 12 feet long.

THE LECTURE TO-NIGHT.—We call attention to the lecture to be given this evening by Mrs. Catharine L. Henderson, in the Unitarian chapel. The side of life to be presented, that of a home left in the care of women and children, exposed to hardships and privations, at the south in war times, is a new one, affording an interesting field for narrative and romantic incidents, which Mrs. Henderson has the literary skill to work well. Immediately preceding the lecture, at 8 o'clock, a reading will be given by Miss Augusta Allen, entitled, "The Soldier's Reprieve, or Little Blossom and the President."

EXPECTED TO ARRIVE.—The government tug Gen. Wright was ordered some days ago to proceed from Yaquina bay to the mouth of the Columbia with the remains of the late Capt. J. A. Pennell, which are to be sent to San Francisco for interment. As yet the Gen. Wright has not put in an appearance at Astoria for some reason. Capt. Pennell, it seems, is a relative of Capt. Stehman Forney, U. S. C. S., who assisted Lieut. A. W. Chase in the first survey of Yaquina bay in 1868. The Gen. Wright may be expected to arrive at any time.

NEW BOAT.—A force of carpenters is engaged on the new steamer being built by Charles Bureau, near Albina. This boat will be a stern wheel, and it is the purpose of the owner to make her first-class in every particular. She will not be ready for the trial trip until about the middle of July. The engines, which are being put up at the Willamet Iron Works, will be one foot bore and five feet stroke, and the boiler will be of what is known as Gates' patent.

THE NEW FERRY COMPANY.—The recently organized Willamette bridge ferry company which will run from the foot of Pine street on this shore to a street on the east side, has applied to the county court for license, which, however, cannot be granted until June. By the 10th of next month the company expects to put the new ferry Albina temporarily on the route. A boat about as large as the new Stark street ferry will be built later and run on a cable.

DISCHARGING CARGO.—The County of Ayr, which is moored just below the foot of Washington street, commenced discharging her cargo yesterday morning. This vessel brought 540 rails for the O. R. & N. Co. The rails are being placed on board of a barge moored alongside the vessel. As soon as loaded, the barge will be towed to the Cascades and the rails forwarded to the front and laid down as rapidly as the grading is completed.

TWELFTH ANNIVERSARY.—Yesterday afternoon the 12th anniversary exercises of the Portland high school came off at Park street building. The exercises were well attended notwithstanding the weather. Every pupil on the programme did well. Music, both vocal and instrumental, good. Prof. Crawford gave a brief history of of the high school from its organization, twelve years ago.

OVERHAULING.—The steamer Wonder is lying at the Willamet Iron Works undergoing a general overhauling. New flanges are being put on the shaft, the wheel will be partially rebuilt, the machinery repaired and a new boiler (one of Gates' patent) is being made. She will not be ready for service for some time.

GONE TO AINSWORTH.—Dr. Geo. E. Flett, one of the young medical graduates will leave this morning for Ainsworth, where he goes to enter upon the practice of the profession he has chosen. The young M. D. will take a position in the recently established hospital at Ainsworth.

REMODELED.—The little side wheel steamer Oneatta is being remodeled and generally overhauled. Among other alterations the boat will be changed from a side to a stern wheel. New engines, 13 inch diameter and four feet stroke are being built for the steamer.

A REMONSTRANCE.—A remonstrance against the passage of an ordinance prohibiting the playing of base ball within the limits of East Portland on Sunday is being industriously circulated by members of one of the clubs and many signatures are being obtained.

BROKE HER SHAFT.—On Monday the steamer Dayton broke her shaft near St. Helens and was towed to this city by the Calliope. The necessary repairs will be made as soon as possible. Meantime the little steamer Toledo will take the Dayton's regular route.

SICK WITH SCURVY.—Five of the crew belonging to the bark County of Ayr are down with the scurvy. They will probably be taken to the hospital for treatment. The disease is due to a long voyage—163 days from Cardiff—damp, foul quarters and poor diet.

CUT HIS FOOT.—A man working at Keenan's tie camp up on the Sandy, had the misfortune to send his ax through his foot on Saturday. A physician was summoned from this city, who went out in the night and dressed the wound.

DISCONTINUED.—The ferry boat which has heretofore been making trips across the Columbia between Vancouver and the Oregon side, has been hauled off for the present, owing to the high stage of water.

CAR CASTINGS.—The Oregonian Railway Co., is having a large number of castings made to be used in the rolling stock. Castings are being made for over 150 cars.

THE MURDER AT ASTORIA.

Further and Fuller Particulars of the Shocking Crime.

ASTORIA, April 26, 1881.

Our telegraphic dispatches have furnished you with the particulars of one of the most cold-blooded murders ever perpetrated in any community.

Though no mortal eye save that of the murderer and his victim witnessed the fearful deed, the evidence adduced before the coroner's jury—and of which I now forward you a full report—leaves but little if any doubt as to who was the perpetrator. If a man is shot down in an encounter when recriminating accusations cause the angry passions to rise and overcome man's better judgment, or even when strong drink maddens the brain, a charitable custom partially excuses the crime; but when a man is shot in the head while peacefully at his desk, pursuing the duties of his profession and sent without a moment's warning "to his account with all his sins and imperfections on his head," it must send a sudden shock through the community in which it occurs and falls with crushing weight on his relatives, friends and associates.

Such was the sad fate of our respected late fellow-citizen Mr. J. W. Robb to-day. Of the motives which led to the crime, presuming, as we are led to presume from the evidence, that J. G. Robeson, who is now under arrest for the crime, committed the deed, it is impossible to speak with any degree of positiveness. It is well known, however, that for some time past Robeson has been threatening to wreak vengeance on Mr. Robb and others for some real or imaginary injury he professed to have received at their hands.

One report has it that the trouble originated in a settlement of copartnership affairs between Mr. James Williams and Mr. Robeson in connection with the Taney Point cannery, Mr. Robb having declined to act as counsel for Robeson, but conducted the case for Williams. Another report connects the difficulty between them with certain transactions relative to the buying up of the licenses issued to fishermen, Robeson having been one of a committee appointed to look after the interests of the fishermen in reference to the license imposed two or three years since and afterwards repealed.

Be this as it may, the conduct and conversation of Robeson for some time past has shown that he has been brooding over his troubles; he has been breathing out threatenings which have culminated at last in his hand in the death of J. W. Robb.

The news of the murder of Mr. Robb's death, as it spread through the community, caused a feeling of horror and resentment, and it was perhaps fortunate for the prisoner that he allowed himself to be so speedily arrested after the occurrence, for there was a strong desire expressed by many citizens to take summary vengeance. Better counsels, however, prevailed, and we hope and believe that the law will be allowed to take its course, feeling assured that justice will be meted out to the murderer if his guilt is established beyond a reasonable doubt.

The stricken and afflicted family of the deceased have the most profound and sincerest sympathy of the whole community. Mr. Robb was an honored member of the Ancient Order of Workmen and it is expected that that society will take charge of the funeral obsequies.

THE INQUEST—WITNESSES EXAMINED—VERDICT.

An inquest was held by Coroner E. B. Franklin of Astoria, on the body of Mr. J. W. Robb in the office of the deceased, where the body lay, on Monday afternoon, 25th inst. E. C. Holden, Foreman, C. S. Wright, W. E. Dement, B. N. Carnahan, J. Strauss, Wm. Joplin, jurors.

The jury having been sworn, proceeded to an examination of the body of the deceased, assisted by the coroner and Dr. Wm. D. Baker, after which the following evidence was given in by the witnesses summoned:

MR. FRANK J. TAYLOR

Being sworn, says: I am an attorney, residing in the city of Astoria. On Sunday evening, 24th inst., I was in L. K. Smith's cigar store, on Water street in in this city; found in there Mr. Spexarth and Judge Bowlby. Soon after Mr. J. G. Robeson came in and made some remarks about a difficulty he had with Mr. Robb in settlement of an account, or words to that effect. He said Robb would not settle with him, used very violent language and declared he would kill him if he did not settle. He remarked, "I will cut his G—d d—d head off and set it on his other table," or words to that effect. These threats were repeated on that occasion several times, and in the presence of other parties that came in, but were laughed at as every one thought he was under the influence of liquor and was bragging. To-day about 3 P. M., or a little after, Judge Bowlby came into my office which is in the same building and across the hall from Mr. Robb's office. About half an hour afterwards, while Judge Bowlby and I were conversing together, we heard some one come through the hall, stop and knock at Mr. Robb's office door and go inside. A moment after we heard a report as of a pistol. Judge Bowlby started from his seat, turned quickly to me and asked, "What is that?" I remarked that I thought it was something that had fallen in the next room to mine. Some one came out of Mr. Robb's office into the hall and walked hurriedly by toward the stairway. I went out into the hall and the party—who had reached the head of the stairway, went rapidly down the stairs. That aroused my suspicion, and I turned and walked rapidly to the front door of the upper hallway, facing the Occident hotel. I was looking to see who passed out from the stairway down below. In a moment afterwards Mr. Robeson walked from under the awning of the store in the basement of the building in which is Mr. Robb's office and my own. He was walking hurriedly diagonally across the street toward Mr. C. L. Parker's store, with his right hand in the side pocket of his coat and his left hand either in his coat or pants pocket, I cannot say which. I watched him until he was well across the street, I then turned and walked down the hall into Mr. Robb's office, there I saw Mr. Robb lying on the floor, struggling and gasping, his head lay under the table. His body was partially across the room on his back. I stepped into the hall and called to Judge Bowlby, who came into the room immediately; I turned to Mr. Robb and asked him if he was shot; he made no answer; Judge Bowlby and I immediately started out for a physician and a police officer; I am familiar with Mr. Robeson's footsteps and I believe it was he who came up into the hall and into Mr. Robb's office while Judge Bowlby and I were conversing and just before the report we heard. There was no other person in the room when I went in but Mr. Robb himself and but one person left the building after the shot was fired and before we discovered Mr. Robb in the position I have described. It was not more than one or two minutes after the shot was fired before I was in Mr. Robb's office.

J. Q. A. BOWLBY

Being sworn testified: I am county judge of Clatsop county. To-day about 3 P. M. I went into Mr. F. J. Taylor's law office, soon after and while conversing with Mr. Taylor I heard some one walk into the hall and knock at a door. A moment after I heard a salutation of which I caught the words "Mr. Robb;" I thought the voice sounded like that of Mr. Robeson and so remarked to Mr. Taylor. A very short time after, perhaps a minute, I heard a sudden crashing noise followed by a step in the hall. After some exclamations between Mr. Taylor and myself, Mr. Taylor stepped out to see what caused the noise. Presently he called to me, "Come here." I went to the door of Mr. Robb's office with him and there saw Mr. Robb lying on the floor on his back with his feet toward the door and his head under the table. We both went immediately out for a doctor. Last evening, sometime between 4 and 6 o'clock P. M., at L. K. G. Smith's store, kept by Mr. Spexarth, Mr. F. J. Taylor was also present there. While I was there, Mr. Robeson came in; he seemed very talkative; talking on various subjects, and in course of his remarks alluded to some business transactions with Mr. Robb, stating that Mr. Robb could not get the best of him, and other words to that effect; would consider them threatening words if spoken in a threatening spirit.

P. H. FOX.

I am justice of the peace for Astoria precinct; on Saturday evening, April 23d, about 9 o'clock, I saw Mr. Robeson on Main street in this city; he spoke to me and asked me if I knew he was a special detective; I told him I did not, nor did not care; he was apparently under the influence of liquor; he said, I have a great mind to go up to Mr. Robb's house and shoot him with a pistol, if I can't do it with a pistol I have a big knife; I told him he had better go and have a sleep, he asked me to go into a liquor saloon, which I declined, and we then parted.

O. H. COOPER.

I am proprietor of the I X L store in this city yesterday evening I was in Mr. Stearn's "Old Corner" saloon, corner of Main street, Astoria; Mr. J. G. Robeson was sitting at a table opposite to me in a room back of the saloon; he made several threats about killing somebody on the morrow; said he would "make somebody kick their last kick to-morrow;" I asked him who? he replied, no matter, you will find out to-morrow.

DR. WM. D. BAKER'S

Certificate to the coroner is as follows: "I certify that I was called to see Mr. Robb at about 10 minutes to 4 P. M., on Monday April 25, 1881; found his office open; upon entering saw him lying on the floor with his head under the table; no pulse perceptible; raised his head and he gave a few gasps and expired; found a gun shot wound on the right side between the first and second rib, ball found underneath skin on left side, between fifth and sixth rib; in my opinion his death was caused by said gun shot wound."

The jury rendered a verdict accordingly, stating their belief that said wound was inflicted by one J. G. Robeson, with murderous intent.

STILL IN THE LEAD.

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever." When one gets a good thing he is disposed to hold on to it. It all depends upon what that article may be as to the course of the possessor in the matter of utilizing the same. If a chair, it is given a prominent place in the parlor, or if a painting, it is to add to the beauty of the drawing room. In all things there is some one particular object which possesses an attraction that at once strikes the eye, and is from that time forward the best and most beautiful. In the daily course of life we hear persons say, "Well, I must have my photograph taken. Where shall I go to procure what will best please me and my friends?" The question is easily answered after one has seen the new display at the foot of the stair leading to Towne's gallery. The fact is this artist has outdone his former work in the attractiveness of the class of photographs exposed this week to the public gaze. The moment the eye of the passer-by catches a glimpse of the exposition he is sure to hesitate and more closely examine the work. If ever satisfaction was depicted on human countenance, it certainly must be after this examination. Mr. Towne has won a leading position in the art by studious attention to the necessities of the business, and as a result the finest work is turned out the San Francisco Gallery. Special care is exercised with little ones, who are invariably known to be the most troublesome subjects. The samples from negatives we have seen prove that the patience of the artist has been thoroughly tested. Mr. Towne has more than once been favored with work through parties resident of California and elsewhere in appreciation of the excellence of his productions. This certainly is a fine endorsement. When you set out to take a sitting, bear in mind the place, First and Morrison.

An Indian and a white man had an altercation on the bridge across the Grand Ronde river at [illegible] one day last week, which resulted in the former being cut in a manner that will probably terminate fatally. The trouble was occasioned by the disputed ownership of a horse, which the white man had bought of another Indian and his antagonist claimed as his own.

Heppner correspondence: Heppner is the trade center of the southwest end of Umatilla and a large portion of Wasco county. It began about eight years ago. Its rise is due wholly to the grazing interests, while grain raising is now acquiring some importance. It is situated at Willow creek and surrounded with hills of considerable altitude. It has one church, a good school house, two hotels, two livery stables, two drug stores, three blacksmith shops, one tin shop, a butcher shop, a flouring mill and several saloons.

Grant County News: On last Saturday Richard Mascall, a farmer on Cottonwood creek, destroyed his own life by taking poison. He went to the water pail, as if to get a drink, put a quantity of strychnine into his mouth from the palm of his hand and took a drink of water. He then lay down on a bed and asked for his pipe. Soon the deadly poison began to take effect, and his wife, suspecting what was the matter, gave him a quantity of grease. Warm water and salt were now given him, with a view to make him vomit, but without effect. He continued to grow worse, and expired in two hours and a half after swallowing the poison. An eye witness describes his sufferings as heartrending. It seems that he had tried to kill himself before, as he suffered poor health. He leaves a wife and two children.

Southern Oregon.

The water in Klamath river and lake is higher now than it has been known to be for years.

The grape crop of Jackson county promises largely, and only late and heavy frosts can prevent a fine yield.

A parsonage will be built shortly in connection with the M. E. church at Jacksonville. A lot for that purpose has recently been purchased for $650.

The Champions of Honor of Wagner creek now number 100 strong. They propose giving a picnic on May 18th, the anniversary of the organization of the council.

Dr. D. A. Covert of Jacksonville has fallen heir to a fortune of $78,000 by the death of a relative in Mexico and will soon visit that country to take possession of the property.

Five Indians of the Klamath reservation—Joe Wicks, Mr. Wicks, Modoc Tom, Young Morgan and Burnsides—have been arrested for stealing some horses of O. T. Brown, near Linkville, and taken to Lakeview for trial.

Capt. J. M. McCall of Ashland has secured the contract for furnishing Fort Klamath with flour at $3 19 per hundred. Wilkins & Shattuck were awarded the beef contract at 7c a pound. There were a large number of bidders.

At the last meeting of the commissioners' court of Lake county it was ordered that a warrant be drawn for $663 84, on account of the debt owed by Lake to Jackson county. This does not extinguish the whole claim, which is about $700.

Among the many things the late flood did, was in the unearthing of the remains of a number of human skulls and skeletons at the old Vannoy ferry on Rogue river. The oldest residents have no recollection of their ever being buried there. They are evidently the remains of Indians.

The claim of Hatfield, Lane and Hunter in Forest creek is one of the best in Jackson county. It will average about 20 feet to depth, prospecting uniformly 25 cents to the cubic foot, while the bedrock is very rich. These gentlemen have only washed off about a quarter of an acre, which has yielded over $10,000—the work of several years.

Jacksonville Sentinel: Two giants are now in operation at Sterling, and nearly twice the amount of dirt washed last season has already gone through the flume. It is the intention of the owners, Messrs. Ankeny and Fauns, to enlarge the main ditch next summer so as to furnish water for a third giant, and an extension of the ditch is already in progress.

Western Oregon.

C. P. Burkhart of Linn county, is lying very ill at his residence near Albany.

Tin, silver and lead in paying quantities, have been discovered near Elwood.

A plowman on the land of Judge Shaw near Salem, killed one day this week, thirty-one copperheads.

Miss Harriet L. Curtis of Syracuse, New York, has accepted the position of teacher in art at the Woman's college of Willamette University.

George Miller, boat puller for John Pergenson's fishing boat was drowned Sunday afternoon by the sudden capsizing of his boat. There was but one other occupant of the boat at the time of the disaster. He made a heroic but vain attempt to save his companion.

Washington Territory.

Three men from Waitsburg in a hack missed the ford at Smith's on the Touchet a few nights ago and drove into deep water. One of the men was asleep and his surprise at finding himself afloat is easier imagined than described. Although the water was deep enough to swim the horses, all escaped with a good wetting and the loss of a few coats and a hat or two.

Yakima Record: Shoudy has secured another contract for 50,000 ties for the Northern Pacific. He contemplates putting a force of woodsmen in on the head waters of the Natches. This timber region is as yet untouched, and from what we can learn about it no difficulty is apprehended in getting all the timber needed without having to haul it far to the water's edge. Other sub contractors also are talking of going in on the Tietan.

THE ODD FELLOWS' ENTERTAINMENT.

The weather last night was very disagreeable, consequently the attendance at the Odd Fellows anniversary entertainment was not as large as sales of tickets indicated it would be. However there was a fair sized and appreciative audience. Hon. J. N. Dolph opened the exercises with a short address relating to the object for which the entertainment was given. Then followed the customary lodge ritual, members in regalia being seated on the stage. The concert was short and pleasing. Mr. Coursen in a fine violin solo, Mrs. Lownsdale in a rollicking and Miss Coursen in two ballads, and variations from the Carnival of Venice. All were heartily encored and each responded. Miss Coursen's voice in ballads is very enjoyable, and in the middle register true, full and clear. Miss Augusta Allen read a well written sketch of her own, "An Odd Fellow's Charge," in good style.

At 10 o'clock dancing was commenced and kept up till a late hour.

Peruvian Bitters.

(CINCHONA RUBRA.)

THE COUNTESS CINCHON WAS THE SPANISH Viceroy in Peru in 1630. The Countess, his wife, was prostrated by an intermittent fever, from which she was freed by the use of the native remedy, the PERUVIAN BARK, or, as it was called in the language of the country, "Quinquina." Grateful for her recovery, on her return to Europe, in 1632, she introduced the remedy in Spain, where it was known under various names until Linnaeus called it Cinchona, in honor of the lady who had brought to them that which was more precious than the gold of the Incas. To this day, after a lapse of two hundred and fifty years, science has given us nothing to take its place. It effectually CURES A MORBID APPETITE FOR STIMULANTS, by restoring the natural tone of the stomach. It attacks excessive love of liquor as it does a fever, and destroys both alike. The powerful tonic virtue of the CINCHONA is preserved in the

PERUVIAN BITTERS,

Which are as effective against malarial fever to-day as they were in the days of the old Spanish Viceroys.

We guarantee the ingredients of these Bitters to be ABSOLUTELY PURE, and of the best known quality. A trial will satisfy you that this is the BEST BITTER IN THE WORLD. The proof of the pudding is in the eating," and we willingly abide this test.

For sale by all Druggists, Grocers and Liquor Dealers. Order it.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 27, 1881.

A BEE STORY.

How Mr. Bricktop Gratified Mrs. Bricktop—The Results of his Purchase.

I had an improved back yard. I went through a seed store and bought a sample of everything that would grow in this climate. The result was a perfect tangle of flowers and things, from the overgrown sunflower to a forget-me-not. Mrs. Bricktop is very proud of our garden, and while gushing over it the other morning, a happy thought worked its way under her back hair. What a delightful thing it would be to have a hive of bees, and raise our own honey, as well as everything else!" I have always thought that woman inspired ever since she convinced me that I couldn't do better than to marry her. This was an original, bold idea; a happy thought. I promised her a hive of bees, and went to business with a lighter heart, and firmer belief in the genuineness of home comforts and amusements.

I bought a hive of honey bees and brought it home with me that very night. It was one of those patent hydrostatic, back-action hives, in which the bees have peculiar accommodations and all the modern improvements. It was a nice little hive, none of your old-fashioned barn-sized affairs. It even had windows in it, so that the bees could look out and see what was going on, and enjoy themselves. Both myself and Mrs. B. were delighted; and before dark I arranged the stand for the hive in the garden, and opened the bay-windows so that the bees could take an early start and get to business by sunrise next morning. Mrs. B. called me honey several times during the evening, and such sweet dreams as we had!

We intended to be up early next morning to see how our little birds took to our flowers; but a good half hour before we probably should have done so we were awakened by the unearthly yells of a cat. Mrs. B. leaped from her downy couch, exclaiming, "what can be the matter with our yellow Billy?" The yells of anguish convinced us that something more than ordinary was the matter with him, and so we hurried into our toilets. We rushed into our backyard, and oh, what a sight met our astonished gaze! The sight consisted of a yellow cat that appeared to be doing its best to make a pin-wheel of itself. He was rolling over and over in the grass, anon darting through the bushes and foliage, standing on his head, and then trying to drive his tail into the ground, and all the while keeping up the most confounded yowling that was ever heard.

"That cat is mad," said Mrs. B. affrighted.

"Why shouldn't he be? the bees are stinging him," said I, comprehending the trouble. Mrs. B. flew to the rescue of her cat, and the cat flew at her. So did the bees. One of them drove his drill into her nose, another vaccinated her on the chin, while another began to lay out his work near her eye. Then she howled, and began to act almost as bad as the cat. It was quite an animated scene. She cried murder, and the neighbors looked out from their back windows and cried out for the police, and asked where the fire was. This being a trifle too much, I threw a towel over my head and rushed to her rescue. In doing so, I ran over and knocked her down, trod upon the cat, and made matters no better. Mrs. B. is no child on a wrestle, and she soon had me under her, and was tenderly stamping down the garden-walk with my head, using my ears for handles. Then I yelled, and some of the bees came to her assistance, and stung me all over the face.

In the meantime the neighbors were shouting, and getting awfully excited over the show, while our servant, supposing us fighting, opened the basement door and admitted a policeman, who at once proceeded to go between man and wife. The bees hadn't got at Mrs. B.'s tongue, yet, and she proceeded to show the policeman that I had abused her in the most shameful manner, and that I had bought a hive of bees on purpose to torment her into the grave. I tried to explain; but just then a bee stung the officer on the nose, and he understood it all in less than a minute. He got mad and actually lost his temper. He rubbed his nose and did some official cussing. But as this didn't help matters any, he drew his club and proceeded to demolish that patent beehive. The bees failed to recognize his badge of office and just swarmed on him. They stung him wherever he had no clothing, and in some places where he did have it. Then he howled and commenced acting after the manner of the cat and its mistress. He rolled on the ground for a moment and then got up and started for the street, shouting "fire." Then the bees [illegible] turned to the people who had climbed upon the fence to see the fun. Then they had some fun [illegible] of the neighbors acted as though they thought a twenty-inch shell was about to explode.

By this time a fire engine had arrived, and a line of hose was taken through the house into the back yard. One of the hosemen asked where the fire was; but just then one of the bees hit him behind the ear, and he knew. They turned a stream upon that half-wrecked beehive and began to "play away" with one hand and fight bees with the other. But the water had the desired effect, and those [illegible] were soon among the things that were. A terrible crowd had gathered in the meantime in front of the house, but a large portion of it followed the flying policeman, who was rubbing his affected parts, and making tracks for the station house and a surgeon.

This little adventure somehow dampened our enthusiasm regarding the delight of raising our own honey. During the next week we wore milk-and-water poultices pretty ardently, but not a word was said about honey; and Mrs. B. has gone to stay a week with her mother, leaving me and the convalescent cat and the tickled neighbors to enjoy our own felicity.

INFERNAL MACHINES.

Probable Nature of the Bomb which Killed the Czar.

[From the New York Sun.]

"How was the bomb made which was used for the assassination of the czar?"

This question was asked of a gentleman who is connected with one of the great powder companies of the city, and who understands thoroughly the use of explosives.

"It might have been filled with any of a number of compounds. I read yesterday that it was filled with sulphur and chlorate of potassa. That is a common combination with which every schoolboy who has understood the elements of chemistry is familiar. The mixture rubbed with a hammer or a stone will flash readily. I doubt if it was this, because there are fulminates which are much more certain and forcible."

"The explosion is reported to have made a deep hole in the pavement, four feet in diameter. Mustn't it have required a very powerful agent to accomplish such an effect?"

"Certainly, but not an unfamiliar one. What are known as the detonating powders have been familiar for at least fifty years, and nothing could have been selected that would have been more certain in its result. Simply chlorate of potash and sulphur make a terrific explosive. If it had been dynamite that had been contained in the glass bombs it is probable that on being thrown it would not have exploded."

PERCUSSION CAPS.

"Supposing the bombs were provided with percussion caps?"

"Then the bombs would have to be thrown accurately. A shell thrown from a gun strikes accurately point on, so that the cap is exploded, but glass balls thrown by hand would not surely retain any given position, and a cap at any one point would not necessarily be touched or exploded. The whole mass would have to be highly explosive for the certain success of such a process. If the balls were filled with nitro-glycerine I may say that I would not like to have one of them strike at my feet; still, the chances are that it would not explode.

"How much more effective such a ball would be if it were filled with the fulminate of mercury or the fulminate of silver. The fulminate of mercury constitutes the percussion in ordinary caps. The assassins having that, had an agent more powerful than nitro-glycerine, and it has been known since the beginning of the century. Dynamite, nitro-glycerine, glucodine, and gun cotton are all forms of the same thing, and the effort has been to make these harmless under ordinary shock and fire. Why should the conspirators have used these? They had a known agent, effective and certain, and there is no need to look for an infernal novelty."

POWERFUL FULMINATES.

"What fulminates are common, and what would have been their effect?"

"The fulminate of mercury would have done. An ounce of it exploded on this desk would tear a hole through it. It costs only $3 50 a pound. A glass ball, such as those the marksmen shoot at, about the size of a hen's egg, if filled with fulminate of mercury and exploded as the bombs were exploded which killed the czar, would rend the ground asunder and produce effects identical with those which have been reported. The effect of these fulminates is the same as that of dynamite. Dynamite is only a weaker, a less susceptible form of them. They operate instantaneously. Gunpowder works gradually and moves the bullet from a gun. Fulminate of mercury exploded in a gun would act instantly, and before the inertia of the bullet was overcome the gun would be shattered. If you put your shoulder to a wagon and applied force gradually you would move the wagon. If you ran your shoulder full tilt against a wagon the wagon would not move and you would hurt your shoulder. That is the difference in the operations of gunpowder and a fulminate.

"There is no reason why the assassins shouldn't have contented with the fulminate of mercury. It is cheap and common. When it is wet it can be transported with impunity, and when dry it can be exploded by slight concussion and its effects are disastrous. A single [illegible] those glass bombs could have been [illegible] a number of ordinary percussion caps or cartridges. The bigger the bomb the more disastrous the explosion, of course; but [illegible] the size of a hen's egg, as I have said, [illegible] have contained enough of this substance to produce the effect reported. Fulminate of silver might have been used. It is more [illegible] explosive than the fulminate of mercury. [illegible] of gold is more explosive still. [illegible] they did not use that: it is too [illegible] to handle. The chloride of nitrogen [illegible] facile high explosive [illegible] they could have handled it."

[illegible]ARD'S CASE.

Joseph H. [illegible]'s Argument against the Issue of Stock.

CHICAGO, [illegible] 26.—An [illegible] New York special [illegible]: In his argument in support of the motion [illegible] a perpetual restraining order, in the [illegible] Villard against the Northern Pacific, which concluded after four hours to-day, J. H. Choate insisted with much reiteration [illegible] the original Northern Pacific Railroad never in the contemplation of law ceased [illegible]; that the power conferred on it by congress were the only power which could have been legally exercised by or in [illegible] of the corporation; and that therefore the [illegible] of [illegible] shares was illegal and void, [illegible] it was made without any consideration received or to be recovered by the [illegible], as required by the provisions of charter. In regard to the so-called [illegible] shares, Mr. Choate said that it was an unanswerable argument against the claims [illegible] for their present validity that the [illegible] owners, when they became debtors [illegible] company, reimbursed themselves [illegible] funds for the money which they had [illegible] for their shares. These proprietary shares therefore, if they were not utterly fictitious [illegible] worthless, belonged to the corporation and [illegible] to the persons who had, in fact, sold the [illegible] company and received payment [illegible] years ago.

King of the Blood

Is not a "cure all;" it is a blood-purifier and tonic. Impurity of blood poisons the system, deranges the circulation, and thus induces many disorders, known by different names to distinguish them according to effects, but being really branches or phases of that great generic disorder, Impurity of Blood. Such are Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Constipation, Nervous Disorders, Headache, Backache, General Weakness, Heart Disease, Dropsy, Kidney Disease, Piles, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Disorders, Pimples, Ulcers, Swellings, &c., &c. King of the Blood prevents and cures these by attacking the cause, impurity of the Blood. Chemists and physicians agree in calling it "the most genuine and efficient preparation for the purpose." Sold by Druggists, $1 per bottle. See testimonials, directions, &c., in pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," wrapped around each bottle.

TROPIC FRUIT
LAXATIVE
Prepared from tropical fruits and plants.

Is thorough in its Medicinal Action, and yet so agreeable to the taste that patrons often disregard our injunction to divide the lozenge into parts (say two doses) to meet their respective cases. At the outset it is especially essential to observe the directions closely till one becomes accustomed to its use—when mild action and the most satisfactory results are sure to follow.

Ladies and children, and those who dislike taking pills and nauseous medicines to secure cathartic action, are especially pleased with its agreeable qualities.

Try it once, and you will esteem it highly as a safe, pleasant, and effective remedy.

Packed in bronzed tin boxes only.
